

LESSON TWENTY TWO
TOPIC: GRATITUDE AND TESTIMONIES
TEXT: PSALM 145:1-3

MEMORY VERSE: REVELATION 12:11

"And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony ..."

CENTRAL TRUTH: Gratitude fosters testimony. Ingratitude towards God is sinful, while gratitude is a significant virtue.

INTRODUCTION: Gratitude embodies a spirit of thanksgiving and appreciation towards God, whereas testimony represents the life of a witness. The testimony of gratitude possesses the ability to liberate individuals from bondage, which is precisely what Satan seeks to prevent us from accomplishing.

LESSON OUTLINE

1. Share your testimony: Isaiah 12:4, Psalm 78:4
Unless you articulate the testimony of how God operates in your life, your narrative will remain untold. There is faith imparted to those who hear our testimony. In Acts 16:27-34, the Roman jailer contemplated suicide, but upon hearing the testimony of Paul and Silas, he came to believe and was saved.

Things to avoid when sharing your testimony

- Refrain from taking glory away from God: Acts 3:11-16
- Do not share it to impress anyone or to glorify the devil
- It is not a lengthy story, so keep it concise: John 9:25
- Avoid discussing your life without linking it to the good news (Jesus Christ) Galatians 1:11-16

2. Gratitude should be a daily practice: Psalm 150, 1
Thessalonians 5:18

Question: Is it inappropriate to mention the name of the individual whom God used to bless us?

CONCLUSION: Gratitude and testimony are essential components of the Christian faith, functioning as forms of worship, instruments for evangelism, and avenues for spiritual development.
